The Journey Behind an Extraordinary Yacht Interior

Via Project Y729 by Oceanco, List General Contractor offers a rare glimpse into a world that normally remains behind closed doors – following the making of an extraordinary superyacht interior across multiple chapters.

Bad Erlach, Austria, 21. September 2026 – How does an extraordinary design vision become an exceptional superyacht interior. With Project Y729 by Oceanco, List General Contractor (List GC) is opening the doors to a world defined by the highest levels of discretion. List GC will share the journey from vision to a realized interior, revealing what will later become almost invisible: exceptional expertise, uncompromising precision, craftsmanship and the collaboration of numerous specialists, co-makers and partners.

Together with Oceanco, Arrow, Zuretti Design, specialized supplier Marmor Hotavlje, and numerous other project partners and co-makers, List GC will reveal selected stages in this extraordinary story of creation.

The Chapters Behind the Finished Result

Under the title “CRAFTED. The Journey Revealed.”, the documentary journey follows Project Y729 across months and disciplines: from the first shared steps of a vision through mock-ups, engineering, material development and production planning to craftsmanship, quality assurance, installation and the final stages before handover.

It reveals the incredible complexity behind an interior that, once complete, is intended to feel harmonious, effortless and entirely natural.

Drawings are translated into technically achievable solutions. Materials are selected, developed and perfected. Highly specialized partners such as Marmor Hotavlje contribute exceptional material expertise and craftsmanship. Technical solutions disappear behind flawless surfaces. And countless individual decisions gradually become one coherent whole.

Much of what makes this level of quality possible will eventually disappear from view. That is precisely where part of its fascination lies.

“Trust is the foundation of every collaboration in our industry. We are therefore extremely grateful to the Owner, as well as to Oceanco, Arrow and Zuretti Design, for giving us the opportunity to take people along on this extraordinary journey. We want to show how we collaborate with numerous co-makers and work closely with the designers, down to the finest detail, to engineer, produce and ultimately install an exceptional interior on board. Bringing a vision like this to life requires the combined expertise and commitment of many people and partners,” says Christian Bolinger, Managing Director, List GC.

From Monaco into the World behind Y729

The public journey begins in September 2026 during the Monaco Yacht Show.

From there, “CRAFTED. The Journey Revealed.” will open a rare window behind the scenes of Project Y729, chapter by chapter, following the creation of its interior over the months ahead.

Until then, drawings will become spaces, materials will become extraordinary surfaces, and the expertise and work of many contributors will become one remarkable work of art. The journey has only just begun.
